Introduction

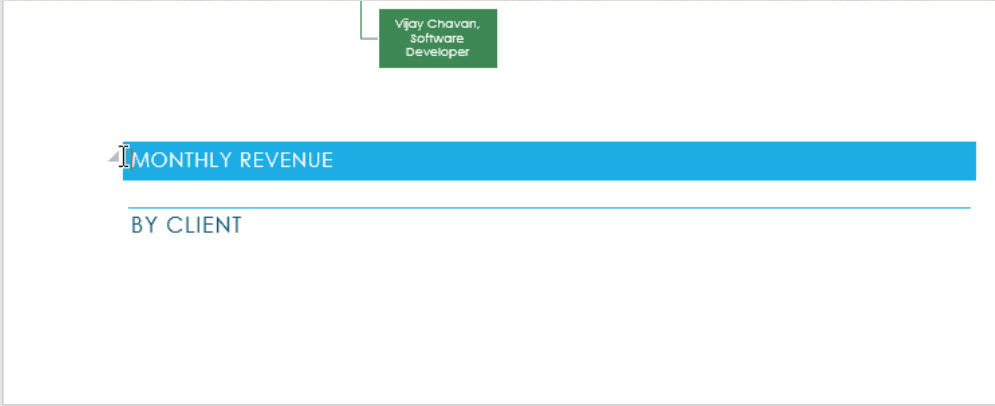

- ▶ When you're working on a multi-page document, there may be times when you want to have more control over how exactly the text flows. Breaks can be helpful in these cases. There are many types of breaks to choose from depending on what you need, including page breaks, section breaks, and column breaks.

- ▶ In our example, the section headers on page three (Monthly Revenue and By Client) are separated from the table on the page below. And while we could just press Enter until that text reaches the top of page four, it could easily be shifted around if we added or deleted something in another part of the document. Instead, we'll insert a page break.

1. Place the insertion point where you want to create the page break. In our example, we'll place it at the beginning of our headings.

Jarvis Unified School District	$31,200	$42,400
Mellon Foundation	$16,000	$19,000
Right Hand International	$5,200	$6,400
DigiPaws.com	$3,600	$4,400

2. On the Insert tab, click the Page Break command. Alternatively, you can press Ctrl+Enter on your keyboard.

- The page break will be inserted into the document, and the text will move to the next page.

- By default, breaks are invisible. If you want to see the breaks in your document, click the Show/Hide command on the Home tab.

Section breaks

Section breaks create a barrier between different parts of a document, allowing you to format each section independently. For example, you may want one section to have two columns without adding columns to the entire document. Word offers several types of section breaks.

	Continuous Insert a section break and start the new section on the same page.
	Even Page Insert a section break and start the new section on the next even-numbered page.
	Odd Page Insert a section break and start the new section on the next odd-numbered page.

- Next Page: This option inserts a section break and moves text after the break to the next page of the document.
- Continuous: This option inserts a section break and allows you to continue working on the same page.
- Even Page and Odd Page: These options add a section break and move the text after the break to the next even or odd page. These options may be useful when you need to begin a new section on an even or odd page (for example, a new chapter of a book).

Inserting a section break

1. Place the insertion point where you want to create the break. In our example, we'll place it at the beginning of the paragraph we want to separate from two-column formatting.

Other types of breaks

When you want to format the appearance of columns or modify text wrapping around an image, Word offers additional break options that can help:

Page Breaks

-  Page
Mark the point at which one page ends and the next page begins.
-  Column
Indicate that the text following the column break will begin in the next column.
-  Text Wrapping
Separate text around objects on web pages, such as caption text from body text.

- Column: When creating multiple columns, you can apply a column break to balance the appearance of the columns. Any text following the column break will begin in the next column.
- Text wrapping: When text has been wrapped around an image or object, you can use a text-wrapping break to end the wrapping and begin typing on the line below the image.

Deleting a break

By default, breaks are hidden. If you want to delete a break, you'll first need to show the breaks in your document.

1. On the Home tab, click the Show/Hide command.

2. Locate the break you want to delete, then place the insertion point at the beginning of the break.

Practice

- Open our practice document.
- Scroll to the Revenue Projections section near the end of the document.
- Remove the page break after the Quarter 2 Projections by Client chart.
- Place your cursor at the beginning of the header Web App Projections.
- Insert a Next Page section break.
- In the Page Setup group on the Layout tab, click the Columns drop-down menu and choose One.
